

Aqueos Corporation is a premier provider of marine construction, commercial diving, remotely operated vehicle ("ROV") and vessel contracting services. The Company has 20-years of underwater experience, primarily serving the offshore oil and natural gas industry, and has successfully completed a wide selection of civil projects in related industries including port authorities, telecommunications, hydroelectric, municipalities, federal and state agencies and engineering and scientific firms. Aqueos' service lines include inspection and repair; underwater cleaning; pipeline installation, tie-ins & inspection; structural repair; platform & facility abandonment and marine terminal projects. Recently we have completed significant projects in support of offshore Wind Farms on the east coast and an USACE dam in the Midwest.

Aqueos' has operational facilities located in the Gulf of Mexico and California and support operations throughout North America, parts of Central America, the Caribbean, and select international locations. We have shop/office facilities located in Broussard, Louisiana and Ventura, California; marine facilities in Amelia, Louisiana and a sales/Project Management office in Houston, Texas. Our corporate office is located in Santa Barbara, California.

Aqueos has identified the demand to expand its operating lines to now include civil projects as well as Military contracts and the offshore Renewable Sector. To this end, the Company's Management has invested in additional personnel and resources dedicated to this expanded market. Project Management, Logistics and Estimating support are strong on both coasts. We can provide surface, Nitrox, mixed-gas and saturation diving in water depths to 1,000'. Our marine fleet includes diving support vessels and ROV's. We are classified as a 'small business' for federal projects.

The company's culture of safety and "Commitment to Excellence" has established it as one of the leading diving companies in the industry today. Aqueos' excellent safety record and superior performance has resulted in a "blue-chip" customer base of major oil and gas companies. If you are looking for professional and highly skilled divers that can get the job done efficiently and SAFELY, we would be proud to add you to our growing list of satisfied clients.
